Statement of Liliuokalani Dominis Read in Court Yesterday.

DENOUNCES MINISTER STEVENS.

Makes a Plea for Misguided Hawalians. Court Martial-Review of the Early Events in the 1893 Revolution.

The Military Commission were treated to a review of the principal events connected with the succeseful revolution of 1893, when monarchical government was obliterated forever in the Hawaiian Islands, through the statement filed and read on behalf of Liliuokalani Dominis, now undergoing trial for conspiring to overthrow the present republican form of Government.

Following is the statement in

In the year 1893, on the 15th day of January, at the request of a large majority of the Hawalian people, and by and with the advice and consent of my cabinet, I proposed to make certain changes in the Constitution of the Hawaiian Kingdom, which were suggested to me as being for the advantage and benefit of the Kingdom and subjects and residents thereof. These pro-posed changes did not deprive foreigners of any rights or privileges enjoyed by them under the Constitution of 1887, promulgated by King Kala-kaua, and his Cabinet, without the consent of the people or ratified by their votes.

My Ministers at the last moment changed their views and requested me to defer all action in connection with the Constitution, and I yielded to their advice as bound to do by the existing Constitution and laws.

A minority of the foreign population made my action the pretext for overthrowing the Monarchy, and, aided by the United States naval forces and representative established a new government.

I owed no allegiance to the Provisional Government so established, nor to any power or to any one save the will of my people and the welfare of my country.

The wishes of my people were not consulted as to this change of government, and only those who were in practical rebellion against the Constitutional Government were allowed to vote upon the question whether the Monarchy should exist or not.

To prevent the shedding of the blood alike, I opposed armed interference and quietly yielded to the armed forces brought against my throne, and submitted to the arbitra-ment of the Government of the United States the decision of my rights and those of the Hawaiian people. Since then, as is well known to all, I have pursued the path of peace and diplo-motic discussion, and not that of internal strife. The United States having first interfered in the interest of those founding the Government of 1893 upon the basis of revolution, concluded to leave to the Hawaiian people the selection of their own form of Government.

This selection was anticipated and prevented by the Provisional Government, who, being possessed of the military and police power of the Kingdom, so cramped the electoral privileges that no free expression of their will was permitted to the people who were opposed to them.

By my command and advice the native people and those in sympathy with them were restrained from rising against the Government in power.

The movement undertaken by the Hawaiians last month was absolutely commenced without my knowledge, sanction, consent or assistance, directly or indirectly, and this fact is in truth well known to those who took part in it.

I received no information from any one in regard to arms which were or which were to be procured, nor of any men who were induced, or to be induced, to join in any such uprising.

I do not know why this information should have been withheld from me, unless it was with a view to my personal safety or as a precaution-ary measure. It would not have received my sanction and I can assure the gentlemen of this Commission that, had I known of any such intention, I would have dissuaded the promoters from such a venture. But will add that had I known, their secrets would have been mine and in-violately preserved.

That I intended to change my Cabthe kingdom, in the event of my reatoration, I will admit; but that I, or inet and to appoint certain officers of any one known to me, had, in part or in whole, established a new government is not true. Before the 24th of January, 1895, the day upon which I formally abdicated, and called upon my people to recognize the Republic of Hawaii as the only lawful Government of these Islands, and to support that Government, I claim that I had the right to select a Cabinet in anticipation of a possibility, and history of other governments, support this right. I was not intimidated in to abdicat-who advised me that such an act would restore peace and good will among my people; vitalize the progress and prosperity of the Islands and induce the actual Government to deal lemently, mercifully and charitably, impassionately with those who resorted to arms for the purpose of displacing a government in the formation of which they had no voice or control; and which they themselves had seen established by force or arms. I acted of my own free will, and wish the world to know that I have asked no immunity of favor myself nor pleaded my abdication as a petition for mercy. My actions were dictated by the sole aim of doing good to my beloved country, and of allevi-Is Willing to Abide by Decision of ating the positions and pains of those who unhappily and unwisely resorted to arms to regain an independence, which they thought had been unjustly wrested from them. As you deal with them, so I pray that the Almighty God may deal with you in your hours of trial. To my regret much has been said about the danger which threatened foreign women and children, and about the bloodthirstiness of the Hawaiians and the outrages which would have been perpetrated by them if they had succeeded in their attempt to overthrow the Republic Government. They, who know the Hawalian temper and disposition, understand that there was no foundation for any such fears. The behavior of the rebels to those foreigners whom they captured and held shows that there was no malignancy in the hearts of the Hawsiians at all. It would have been sad indeed if the doctrine of the Christian Missionary Fathers, taught to my people by them and those who succeeded them, should have fallen like the seed in the parable upon barren ground.

I must deny your right to try me in the manner and by the Court which you have called together for this purpose. In your actions you violate your own Constitution and laws, which are now the Constitution and laws of the land. There may be in your consciences a warrant for your action, in what you may deem a necessity of the times, but you cannot find any such warrant for any such action in any settled, civilized or Christian land. All who uphold you in this unlawful proceeding may scorn and despise my word, but the offense of breaking and setting aside for a specific purpose the laws of your own nation and disregarding all justice and fairness may be to them and to you the source of an unhappy and much to be regretted legacy. I would ask you to consider that your Government is on trial before the whole civilized world, and that in accordance with your actions and decisions will you yourselves be judged. The happiness and prosperity of Hawali are henceforth in your hands alone as its rulers. You are commencing a new era in its history. May the Divine Providence grant you the wisdom to lead the nation into the paths of forbearance, forgiveness and peace, and to create and consolidate a united people ever anxious to advance in the way of civilization outlined by the American fathers of liberty and religion. In concluding my statement I thank you for the courtesy you have shown to me, not as your former queen, but as an humble citizen of this land and as a woman. I assure you, who believe you are faithfully fulfilling a public duty, that I shall never harbor any resentment or cherish any ill feeling towards you whatever may be your decision.

VERY MUCH ALIVE.

Lilikoi Brought To Light By Capt. Parker's Vigilance.

Jno. L. Lilikoi, the rebel lieutenant who was reported killed during an engagement with the Government troops, was brought to the police station last night by Capt. Parker. With him were two natives, Kema Kakipi and Hoopii Kaliloa. Capt. Parker got a clew the city, and last night located them at a house near the Queen hotel on Nuuanu street.

Arriving at the house a native woman was the only occupant. She stoutly affirmed her ignorance of the whereabouts of the men, but finally brought them from a banana field in rear of the house. The insurgents have been hiding in the city for some time. Lilikoi says he is tired of evading the police and will "tell the truth."

A number of witnesses were placed on the stand to prove that Charles Clark's reputation for veracity was not good.

Mrs. Dominis was placed on the stand also, but nothing of an important nature was elicited. Professor C. J. Lyons was the first witness. He stated that he was handed a bomb to examine. He was also given the piece of shell that was found on end's statement. Atttorney-General Smith said that the first information the Government received about the landing of arms was on the afternoon of the 6th January; there had been rumors, but nothing definite was learned until that Sunday afternoon; a search-warrant was made out and police sent to search Bertelmann's place. The uprising was unexpected by the Government.

Judge-Advocate Kinney announced that the case for the Government was closed.

AFTERNOON SESSION. Captain Kinney made an explanation about a remark that he had made at the station-house. It referred to the findings of the Commission. He told several prisoners that three men had been sentenced to be hung. He that these men were in hiding in simply quoted the statement as it appeared in an evening paper. He did not want the Commission to think that he was making public the findings of the court.

Alfred Carter corroborated Captain Kinney's statement.
Mr. Neumann ealled Captain Tripp for the defense. The witness said he resided in Honolulu, off and on, for twenty-five years; he knew Charles Clark; his reputation for truth and veracity was bad; the witness would not believe him under cath.

Cross-examined:—Clark was a member of the ex-queen's household; could not say if Clark had transacted any confidential business for the accused Clark belonged to one of Kalakana's companies; the witness had had trouble of a financial nature with Clark, he looked on him as being "no good." not belong to him.

Mr. Neumann asked that accused be sworn in her own behalf. (Through Interpreter Wilcox:) Sunday afternoon, January 6th, took a ride with Joe Heleiuhi and Charles Clark; drove up Nunanu street, along Judd street, down Liliha street and out to Kamehameha School; returned about 5 o'clock; after returning we all went into the house for family prayers; did not see Charles Clark when returned; heard what Clark testified to; saw him next day; sometime after daylight on Monday morning; did not see Clark after 10 o'clock next day; Clark did not say to witness at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, "Nowlein has told me the time had come," and you re-plied, "you were glad of it;" he did not tell me about 9 o'clock that night that the Government had the place surrounded; did not say to Clark I was sorry the Government had got onto the movement; know Joseph Kaawai; he is one of my retainers and acts as guard during day; don't remember seeing or talking with him on Friday morning; have never talked with him; no such conversa-tion as he swore to took place between ing on premises; don't know if he was on premises between those hours. Mr. Neumann announced close of case on behalf of defense. Judge-Advocate Kinney took the ground that after accused had taken stand no statement should be allowed to be put in.

Court ruled statement on behalf of accused could be filed either before or after argument of counsel for defense. The Judge-Advocate stated he would put no evidence in rebuttal.

Counsel Neumann then stated that he wished to file a written statement in behalf of the accused, and presented two copies—one in Hawaiian and the other in English. The English translation was read by interpreter Luther Wilcox.

(From Wednesday's Dany) Long before the hour set for the opening of the Military Court yesterday morning, people commenced to arrive at the Executive building. The number was so large that the courtroom was filled up in a few moments and orders were given to allow no one to enter the outer gate unless they had business to transact.

The audience was composed mostly of women. They wanted to see Mrs. Dominis and were finally rewarded for their patience. The ex-queen did not make her appearance until after 11 o'clock. She was escorted downstairs by Captain Kinney and Lawyer Neumann. The ex-queen entered the courtroom followed by Mrs. C. B. Wilson, her attendant. She was attired in a black slik dress. She wore a bonnet of the same color, which was trimmed with a spray of flowers to relieve the sombre effect.

As she entered the room all eyes were turned upon her, but she did not look either to the right or left. She sat in a chair next to her counsel, and appeared to be oblivious to her surroundings Previous to the arrival of Mrs. Dominis, the case of John Wise was taken up. He is a young Hawaiian who was educated for the ministry through the kindness of a local citizen. From evidence previously brought out it appears that he carried some arms to the rebel camp on the day when the rebellion broke out. The original charge against him was treason, but later it was changed to misprision of treason.

When he was arraigned yesterday Paul Neumann made the usual objec-tion to the jurisdiction of the court. The plea was overruled and the case

Wise pleaded guilty to the charge and to the fourth and fifth specifications. The other specifications were stricken out.

The defendant did not wish to mak any statement in his own behalf. His counsel said that if he was guilty, his connection with the uprising was such a slight one that he was entitled to clemency on that account, and then again the court should consider his plea of guilty as another reason for mitigation.

Captain Kinney answered by stating that clemency was granted when the charge was reduced to misprision of treason. The defendant was certainly guilty of the latter charge. He was a man of education and was well aware of the consequences. Mr Kin-ney closed by saying that by reducing the charge all the elemency the Government was authorized to show was

After this matter was disposed of, the case against Mrs. Dominis was called Captain Kinney asked if she was represented by counsel Paul Neumann replied that he was her The usual routine forms were gone through with, and then Mr. Neumann arose and stated that he had the right to challenge any mem-ber of the court who had expressed an opinion on the merits of the case

Captain Kinney replied that the court was there to do its duty both to the accused and the Government. However, Mr. Neumann's claim was not disputed, and he proceeded to ask each member of the court regarding an expression of opinion. The entire court gave a negative response, each member stating that he would give the accused a fair and impartial trial.

Mr Neumann then took another tack and objected to the court in general, giving as a reason that it had heard and determined a charge similar to the one now before t, in which the subject matter was once brought gist of the charge was that the accused had a guilty knowledge of the uprising. The subject matter was totally different from the cases already heard Mr. Neumann contended again that the court was not competer to try another case of the kind

He expressed sorrow for the part played by him and now saw the extreme folly of it

The Court desired to have a plea of guilty or not guilty, and acting upon the advice of Attorney Magoon, Mr. Cummins entered a plea of guilty to the second specification of the first charge. He was fully aware of the nature of the charge and was acting of his own free will and accord and without prejudice or expectation of re-ward. A plea of not guilty was entered to the remaining charge and specifications Judge Advocate Kinney read for the information of the Court the testimony given by Cummins during the trial of Major Seward After which he stated he was willing to accept the plea of guilty entered by Cummins without going further into the case.

The Commission thought it advisable that Captain Davies make a brief failed to do his duly to the State" It is statement concerning the part taken by him in procuring and landing arms for the rebels.

Captain Davies said he was master and owner of the steamer Waimanalo, had been employed by W. H. Rickard for $10,000 to go out and get the arms and land them; he had full knowledge that the arms were to be used in an uprising against the Government; the transaction was strictly a matter of business; his steamer was open for charter by any one; made no written agreement with Rickard; witness was paid $20, with which he purchased coal to be used during the trip.

Mr. Magoon then presented the following masterful plea in the case of Mr. Cummins, during the continuance of which the prisoner was visibly af-

May it please the Court-One of Hawan's most conspicuous sons stands before you at this time for sentence. He has pleaded guilty to the charge of trea-You have heard his statement, and what he has related to you constitutes his crime. I assume and believe that he has told you the whole truth. Everything that is known to us of this lamen'able business strength-ns this assumption. If this is so, I feel that I need make no apology for coming before you to plead for mercy in his behalf.
The Court must, in his case, divest itself of all that relates to bombs and indiscrim nate slaughter. With all his faults, Mr. Cummins would not be a party to such methods. I am free to say that the Hawanan is not the one to original inate or countenance such horrid work. Much as it may shame us, we must look nearer home to find the authors of such infernal measures. We are aut to associate crueity with the savage; but there what is known as refined cruelty, which as the expression would indicate, exists only among the wholly civilized. The former, when compared with the latter, is as the shades of evening are to the darkness of night. Right here is the keynote that prompts the action of the Government and its supporters. There are agencies which if allowed to obtain control would paralyze the will A man crazed by drink may become a demon: stupefied by opium, an imbecile. These are illustrations of physical agencies. Those which I refer to are moral agencies It will make any decent man want to hide his head with shame to read some pages of Hawaiian history. It is almost ncredible that Anglo-Saxone, so late as the middle of the Nineteenth century, could publicly advocate and violently enforce the most bestial immorality in Those men and their shameless sucessors have systematically inculcated their noxious principles, until they have literally poisoned the minds of many a lovable Hawanan rature, and deprived him of the power to even understand the right. There are none of us who want to see such poor deluded people severely punished. They must be taught, they must be dealt with in such a manner as to prevent a repetition of their offense. This poisonous atmosphere has turned some Hawanans, and they are only a few, into leaders in a most diabolical plot, it has turned others and they are more numerous, yet comparatively only a few, into followers and supporters. I has from the very nature of things drawn other Hawanans (and if their number could be definitely known this class would be larger than the other two) into passive sympathizers of a move-ment to restore the former queen. This last class, also from the very nature of things, could have but a dim and uncertain knowledge of the manner in which the plan was to be carried out. In this last class I place Mr. Cummins. I feel certain that the Court will agree with me that his was more the sin of omission than that of commission. Although he is guilty, bus guilt is so slight that I submit it just brings him within the law, and that is all. It is the duty of every good citizen to expose all traitorous conspuracies. It was the duty of Mr. Cummins so to do; and most of all was it his duty not to allow himself to be used as a too! to assist it There are several matters to be considered, however, which must palliate his offense. In the first place the Government of his native land had been overturned and a Government of the foreigner established in its place. The former he was born under and loved, He loved it though it had fallen into disrepute the was the love for a wayward third. This Court would disrespect him if he did not over to loving it, he had no place in his heart for its successor It is not natural to expect that he would teleaser even were there no other leasons whi he should keep silent, to dis-

Mr Cummins was bound, in cuty, to protect even this most wort iless son In the last case there was a claum upon his hospitality and friendship Mr. Seward, as is well known, has been for the last few years almost the eyes, ears and mouthpools of Mr Cummins. Mr Seward has been more than a pri vate secratary an business agent for Mr Cun mins he has been on terms of greatest in imacs with him. The innermost received at his heart have us it were, been opened to this accomplished soldier. If the influence exerted by the one has hal an evil effet upon the other let us not be too prone to condemn the innocent man. Such alnauces are usually permitions Some'imes the brightest and best men become subject to such influences, and nothing seems to be able to dispel the plamour that surrounds the hideous moral degravity concealed by a pleasing extensive Do you wonder that Mr Cummins, inh m by reason of age, broken down in health and impoverished in fortune, ander the influence of Mr. Seward, posting as a representative American and a soldier, almost a surprise that he even made the feeble protest that is of record. Were it not for his plea of gulty, under the fac a I think I would be almot justified in ask ng for his acquittal.

I come at last to the question o what is to be done with this old man. This court owes a duty to the community which I know it must and will perform, so far as it can distinguish the right, and it equally owes to this defendant not to judge him too harshly, to temper justice with mercy, a duty which I have an abiding confidence it will perform in a manner that will reflect credit to all concerned and command the respect of all persons. That these trials are upon the very verge of what victorious belligerents can do with the approval of the law of nations, will be an additional cause for dispassionate and earnest delibera-

I have said that Mr. Cummins is broken down in health. He is prematurely old. He has a complication of diseases which make it absolutely imperative for him to have his liberty. To confine him in prison would, in all probability, result in his speedy death, until which time he would be only a charge upon the Government. It would be visiting him with a punishment desproportion ate to his crime. If this view is accepted there remains for the court to impose a fine only, and the question of how much will necessarily engage your attention. It is my duty to point out that Mr. Cummins is not a rich man. His lavish hospitality has been famous. Hardly a person of note has ever come to this country who has not been entertained by him, and now, in his old age, when he should have plenty and to spare, he finds himself burdened with debt and face to face with the stern realities of life.

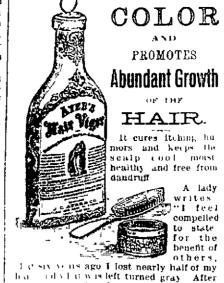

'Oh, Age and Want, that ill-matched pair. show man was made to mourn. He is not the only Hawaiian who has squandered a fortune in misguided hospitality. It is a redeeming feature of his impoverishment, however, that he did not spend his money in a manner which directly or indirectly could oppress the poor. Not Mr. Cummins' faults, but all that is good and noble in his character, appeals to you for mercy. He has done all that he could do to repair the wrong. Late as it was, he took the oath to sup port this Government before his arrest. and some of those with whom he was associated, and who have openly and violently and continually denounced this Government, have not taken the oath to this day. After his arrest he told, as we must believe, without reserve, of his connection in the affair, thereby assisting the prosecution in every possible way that lay in his power. He has pleaded guilty, and I need hardly remind you that this of itself entitles him to add,- tional consideration at your hands. Mr. Mago in took the position that the Commission was a law unto themselves, but believed they would act in the case of Mr. Cummins as became men of their intelligence. He contended that the Court was not necessarily compelled to inflict the statutory penalty, but could impose a lesser degree of punishment in exceptional cases and in those where the evidence justified such action. He considered Mr Cummins' case one of these, and would urge cleme, cy in his behalf Judge Advocate Kinney thought all the Commission was called upon to do in this case was to impose a legal sentence in accordance with the evidence. While it was true that Mr. Cummins took only a small part, that part was treason and should be so deciared by the Commission. Mr. Commins had acted as interpreter in pro curing arms, and this was about the extent of his guilt. Every one who took any part in the proceedings, whether to a small or great extent, is guilty of treason and nothing else. If the Commission saw fit to ask for clemency in favor of Mr. Cummins the Executive would, no doubt, take full cognizance of it. On occount of the age of Mr. Cummins and his previous position in the country, Mr. Kinney thought these would undoubtedly weigh in favor of the accused Whatever was done in the matter would be just and proper. So far as Captain Davies is concerned, he will bear me out in saying that no promises of an ature whatsoever have been held but to him. The Government has used him and others as witnesses, and this fact will be duly considered in coming to a conclusion regarding the sentences to be inflicted. As there was no further business before the Commission, at 3:18 the Court was cleared until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning

THE ANTI-TOXINE TREATMENT.

Medical science has scored many victories over deadly microbes of disease, and now the anti-toxine treatment of diphtheria comes to the front as one of the remarkable achievements of the age. After years of study and experiment, prominent physicians of the old world have been able to place a barrier in the advance of this muchdreaded malady which will reduce the death rate from diphtheritic affections to a minimum. In Berlin and elsewhere the death rate has already been reduced fully 40 per cent. So thoroughly has the effi- | dignified strength. fought with poor success. The theory and process of this new discovery is briefly described as follows: Toxine is the poison produced in the blood by the bacillus of diphtheria, the poison to which disease and death are due. The bacilli are placed in broth under certain conditions, they multiply marvelously, and the broth is impregnated with this same toxine poison Strain the broth and use the toxine to inoculate man or beast, and disease will follow. If the toxine is reduced in strength, the disease is mild. In practice, a horse is inoculated first with a small, weak quantity of toxine, then with a stronger dose and so on. It is found that the horse becomes less and less subject to the poison, and at last is totally unaffected by the strongest dose-is immune, as it is called. Now, if the horse in its immune state is bled, it is found that the serum (or clear liquid part) of the blood is a positive antidote to the poisonous toxine; in other words, an 'anti-toxine." It is this that is used for the inoculation of the diphtheritic patients. It seems well established that, except in late stages of the disease, its progress is almost cer tainly arrested. What a scourge diphtheria is may be judged from the fact that there have been over one hundred thousand cases in New York (ity alone since 1871 of which over a third have proved

Municipal reform crusades have become quite the fad throughout the United States, and the rotten political hearts that have been exposed to public criticism in more than one city, are ample evidence of the necessity of the movements and that there is an unbounded field for future action. The American people have a characteristic custom of standing more political jobbery, for a longer time and with greater indifference than any nation on the globe. It was error to charge the jury that proof of adulters arrest was sufficient to convi-t

OPINION OF THE COURT BY JUDD, C.J.

The above named defendants were convicted of the offense of adultery, on appeal, by the jury at the last November Term of the Circuit Court First Circuit. The charge made in the District Court was "Adultery in Honolulu within one month prior to October 16th, 1894 "

The clerk's minutes of the proceed ings in the Circuit Court state the charge to be "Adultery"-giving no further particulars. Presumably the same charge as made in the District Court was renewed on appeal in Circuit Court, but the minutes of proceedings of the Circuit Court should show it in full.

At the trial evidence was given of the defendants' living and associating together as man and wife, though not married to each other, prior to the arrest. If the prosecution had rested here the jury would have been authorized to find the verdict they did. But the prosecution put on evidence, under objections by defendants, of the circumstances in which the defendants were when arrested on the 17th October, early at 2 o'clock a. m., of the next day after the warrant was issued. These facts went to the jury on the following charge which was excepted to by defendants' counsel: "It is immaterial in criminal prosecutions that the date be exactly proved as laid; it is sufficient if you find in this case that this act (of adultery) was committed at or previous to the time of the arrest." We regret being obliged to disturb the verdict in a case like this where the proofs of guilt are so clear,-but, under the instruction, the jury might have found defendants guilty of the offense committed after the warrant was issued and at a date subsequent to the time covered by the charge. Such evidence of conduct occuring after the substantive charge of adultery is enly admissible as corroborative facts, throwing light upon the previcus nature of the intercourse between the parties and showing the continuance of an adulterous disposition. The case from which we derive this rule of law applicable to cases of this character is Thayer v. Thayer, 101 Mass. 111. In this case the Court commented upon previous cases in the same Court, Com. v. Horton, 2 Gray, 365;—Com. Thrasher, 11 Gray, 450; Com. Merriam, 14 Pick. 518;—where prior or subsequent acts of improper familiarity are rejected, as tending to show a substantial act of adultery on plication of the rules of evidence to the facts presented." In admitting testimony to prove adultery on occasions subsequent to the date of the charge, the Court in Thayer v. Thayer, say: "An adulter ous disposition existing in two persons towards each other is commonly of gradual development; it must have some duration; and does not suddenly subside. When once shown to exist, a strong inference arises that it has had and will have continuance, the duration and extent of which may be usually measured by the power which it exercises over the conduct of the parties. It is this character of permanency which justi fies the inference of its existence, at any particular point of time, from facts illustrating the preceding or subsequent relations of the parties. The rule is, that a condition once proved is presumed to have been produced by causes operating in the usual way, and to have continuance a different occasion, and say that in these cases "there is a plain misaptill the contrary be shown. The limit, practically, to the evidence under consideration is that it must be sufficiently, significent in character, and sufficiently near in point of time, to have a tendency 'to lead the guarded discretion of a reasonable and just man' to a belief in the existence of this important element in the fact to be proved. If too remote or insignificant, it will be rejected, in the discretion of the judge who tries the case. The fact that the conduct relied on has occurred since the filing of the libel does not exclude it; and proof of the continuance of the same questionable time, as in the case at bar, will add to its weight If the evidence of the circumstances of the parties at the time of the arrest had gone to the jury upon an instruction similar to the above it would be unobjectionable. The evidence was admissible, for the proof of the criminal act is the best proof of the adulterous disposition as evidenced by the previous acts-hat the charge, as made, did not cover the time within which these acts occur red, and the jury might not have found the adultery alleged to have prior to October 16th," and convicted the parties upon the evidence of the situation and orcumstances of the parties existing on the 17th October.

If the charge when the parties had been presented for trial had been en larged so as to include this date (17th October) then proof of the facts detailed as existing on that date would properly have gone to the jury, as it did, as a substantial offense.

Exceptions sustained and a ne trial ordered.

elendants pleaded guilty to a charge of se ling spirituous liquor without license and senteme was suspended Thereafter they were again arrested tor another offense of the same char acter. On being brought into Court a notice prosequi was entered and the Court imposed sentence in the previous case. Held, it was no error to thus pass gentence though proof of the second offense was not made to the Court.

OPINION OF THE COURT BY JUDD, CJ.

In the above cases the defendants were arrested on charges of selling spirituous liquor without a license in Honolulu, Friedenburg in July last and Palau in April last. Both defendants on being brought before the District Court of Honolulu, pleaded guilty and sentence thereon was suspended. The understanding was that if the defendants should repeat the offense, the prosecution would ask that sentence be imposed in the premises for the previous offense. Later both defendants were again arrested for the same offense alleged by the warrant to have been commit ted, by Friedenburg in August and September last and by Palau in August last.

On coming into Court the prosecution showed the Court that in the previous cases pleas of guilty had been made and that sentence had been suspended and therenpon moved to have sentence imposed. Counsel for defendants claimed that the Court could not impose sentence till the prosecution proves the commission of the second offense. The Magistrate overruled the objection and imposed sentence. The defendants noted appeals to the Circuit Court on points of law. At the last November Term the appeals were there dismissed on the ground that no points of law were certified up by the Magistrate. Thereupon the defendants "appealed" to this Court. This was erroneous. Questions of law can only come to this Court from the Circuit Court at term by Bill of Exception duly perfected and allowed by the presiding Judge. This would be sufficient ground to dispose of these cases. But we add that where a defendant on a criminal charge pleads guilty thereto and sentence, at the request of the prosecution, is suspended, he puts himself in the hands of the prosecution as to his future conduct.

The proof of a commission of a econd offense is not a condition precedent to the power of the Magistrate to impose the sentence up to that time auspended.

The so called exceptions are dis

Marshal Hitchcock said: "There is no truth whatever in these stories about thumb screws, putting on ice and in tubs of water. Some of the men whom we learned from no less than two witnesses had a knowledge of the location of rifles and revolvers were put in dark cells. Without exception these men have come out and given information by which the officers were enabled to go to the place designated and capture arma and ammunition. One man confessed his knowledge and directed the officers to a place where five revolvers with ample ammunition were found.

The Teachers' Association of Kanai held their fourth regular meeting at the Government schoolhouse, Lihue, February 1st.

Fourteen teachers answered to their names at roll-call. In addition to these there were a number of visitors present. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by kept in the cell was forty-eight hours; in only one instance was a man confined that length of time.

No more than ten have ever seen the instance was a paper entitled, "A Short Cut to Education." An illustration of Ward's celebrated combined method of wordbuilding, by H. Z. Austin, principal of the Government school at Kapas. This was an exposition of a new method of learning to read which was introduced into the public schools of "Yes, I have heard the stories of New York, Mr. Austin's native State, men being packed in ice and put by Associate Superintendent of the in big tubs of water and threatened with drawing. The system was demonstrated upon the blackboard by request and called forth considerable discussion, criticisn and inquiry from Owing to the absence of Mr. J. C. Davis and Mr. W. H. Neal who were down on the programme for the next two numbers, New Business was substituted. Under this heading the sec retary read a communication from the secretary of the Board of Education in reference to the attendance of all teachers at the regular meetings of the association, which was in response to a letter from the association bearing upon the subject, and in which he promised to lay the matter before the next regular meeting of the Board of Education, and also assured the teachers of his hearty co-operation. This was followed by the reading of a letter from Mr. Henry S. Townsend, of Lahainaluna, Maui, editor of the Pro-gressive Educator, in which he requested that his paper be adopted as the official organ of the association. After some little discussion the following resolution was carried: Resolved, That the Teachers' Assoclation of Kauai does not deem it expedient to single out any particular paper or publication as its official organ. That the editor or proprietor of any paper is at liberty to have a reporter present at its meetings.

The secretary was authorized to forward:copy of resolution to Mr. Town-It was also suggested that the pro-proprietors of the HAWAHAN GA-ZETTE be requested to set apart a column, or more if necessary, to be devoted to educational matters exclusively. Mr. T. H. Gibson, of Waimea, proposed that a change be made in the time and number of the meetings of the association; that instead of attempting to get the teachers together meeting, continuing for a week if necessary, at the close of the summer term, be held, thus allowing the teachers living at a distance ample time to assemble at a season of the year when the weather and roads were favorable for traveling.

The convention could then take up regular institute work, with the possibility of outside aid from Honolulu, either from the Inspector General, competent lecturers and professional educators, or others appointed by the Board of Education-which Mr. (4th storum is "There is one thought that I to be the largest ship that has ever and far more satisfactory to all contents and far more satisfactory to all conte son thought would be of much greater Experience has proven the impossibility of securing a full attendance at the meetings of the association, if those meetings were held during the stormy seasons of the year, and in the opinion of the speaker, teachers ought not to be expected to make such long and tiresome journeys at such seasons and upon such short notice, etc. After considerable debate, in which all members present took part, the se-retary was instructed to forward a circular letter to each of the teachers of the association who are in the em ploy of the Government, requesting an expression of their views in regard to changing the time and duration of meetings as proposed, to wit:

1. One meeting of three days duration, once a year, to be held during the last week of the summer term, or 2. Two meetings a year, each of two days' duration, to be held during the dry seasons of the year, the exact date of such meetings to be decided upon at the next regular convention of the association. Upon receipt of replies from the teachers, the secretary was further instructed to address a letter to the Board of Education, requesting the necessary permission of the Board to hold such meetings at such time or times most agreeable to and convenient for the majority of the members. The remaining numbers of the programme were then taken up, viz. 4. A paper, by Miss Augusta Bruce, Principal of the Mulamula Industrial School, Lihue. Subject: "Why I Should Attend a Teachers' Meeting." which was an able argument, clearly setting forth the advantages to all concerned, by the regular attendance of teachers of all grades at such gatherings.

5. Tonic-sol-fa, by Mr. J. B. Alexander, proved to be a very entertaining and instructive lesson on this popular method of teaching vocal music.

6. Question Box caused some discussion, and no little amusement.

This completed the programme for the day. Then followed "Unfinished Business." Under this heading, the secretary reminded the association that they had elected officers for a tarm of the programme for the secretary reminded the secretary reminded the association that they had elected officers for a tarm of the programme for the secretary reminded the secretary remi term of one year, that with the present meeting the year expired, and he would be pleased to be released from further service. Mr. Austin assured the members present that he fully appreciated the honor conferred upon him, and thanked them for same; that he did not wish to shirk any duty, that he had conscientiously tried to contribute his little mite for the good of the cause, and would continue to do so; but that it was customary to elect new officers each year in all organizations of this character, and that he preferred to step down and out in favor of a younger and abler give the public reasonable notice of their intention to sall at unusual times it would be fully appreciated by a long suffering community. It is customary for the Mikahaia to leave Nawiliwili at 5 p. m. Saturdays, and the public make their arrange ments accordingly. This week she left without proper notice on Friday afternoon to the serious inconvenience of a number of people who intended to take passage and others who wished to forward mail.

Inquiry at the post office at Kealia elicited the fact that the postmaster there knew nothing of the change of time of departure of the Mikabala until the mail carrier drove up to his office on his way to meet the steamer.

which were listened to with great in terest by the large audience present The programme was commenced by a piano solo by Miss Carrie Castle It was received with applause A. T. Atkinson, the Inspector General of Schools, was the first speaker. His address was on educational aims. He said that the greatest aim was to reach the ideal of mental and moral training. He spoke of the necessity of a common base upon which to build, and pointed out that language afforded that base. He said it was impossible to obtain the best results from primitive languages, the experiment had been tried here in the old Hawanan schools, but was a failure. The speaker said that English must be taught thoroughly, so that the child will not only speak in English, but think in English also. He regretted that the kindergarten schools were being carried to the could deference the could be supported to the could be suppor ried on with racial differences. He pointed out that one of the causes of failure among teachers was the fact that they tried to do too much with the heads of their pupils. The speaker said that mere knowledge is not by any means education. This fact had been learned of late in these islands. As an instance, the speaker mentioned that a youth had been sent abroad for the purpose of getting the best education obtainable. He returned with a little knowledge, but not enough education to keep him out of difficulties. He spoke of the importance of training the hand, and said that the cultivation of the eye would naturally follow, this would lead to the greatest aim of the teacher, viz, the cultivation of the power of observation But these aims, great as they may be, are insignificant compared with the great moral aims which should actuate the teacher. After Mr. Atkinson finished his address, Miss Richards sang "Springs Awakening" to a piano accompan-ment by Professor Richards, her

Mr Brown said that during his short stay in Honolulu, he had become profoundly impressed with the import ance of education. In no country where he had had experience was the immense responsibility of the teacher more apparent than in these islands we can't belp having the fever.' Yet the remarks about the importance of language training, and when he returned home he would be able to impressupon the teachers of California that importance from his experience in Ho nolulu He said that two things were absolutely necessary to success in pedagogy first, continuity of effort, and second, cooperation in that effort. He regretted that the educational world had engaged heretofore in a game of touch and go It had tried experiments and had abandoned them without giving them a fair trial. It had seriously laid itself open to the charge of being a world of fads. The speaker said this should be overcome by continuity of effort. He spoke of the folly and uselessness of occasional teachers' meetings for the purpose of listening to speeches, and pointed out that if good is to accrue from teachers' associations, they must carefully follow and carry out a continuous line of them single banded, and therefore the many pounds in doctor's bills and costly wise teacher would seek the coopera- prescriptions tion of his fellows in their common aim This plan is now being practiced, to a large extent, inGermany, where papers on educational topics are published one year before the meeting at which the papers are to be read. This affords the students of pedagogy an oppor-tunity of making a thorough study of the subject This plan is also carried out to a large extent in (allfornia, where the State Association issues to each county thesis to be discussed by

The speaker said the accient system of formulating a course of study and requiring the teachers to conform to it was giving way to the better method of inducing the teachers to firmulate their own course of study. The speaker regretted that the United States had not yet been able to annex Hawaii, but expressed the hope that the teachers of Hawan would annex the sympathy and to operation of their fellows in the States He prom sed that for himself and the Teachers' Association of California, anything that would tend to benefit of teachers in Hawaii would be gladly unler-

It is to the credit of Mr. O'Neil that in two weeks from the time of the landing of the machinery it was in working order, and no expense was incurred by the Ewa Plantation Company after the machinery arrived.

Ewa plantation is composed of 4,000 acres of sugar, 610 acres of forest and 25 acres of pasture land. Of these 2,853 acres are under cultivation at the present time. The compound condensing engine of the Ewa Plantation Company, used for pumping water to all portions of the fields, was not running yesterday on account of all necessary water being obtained from recent rains. One hundred and sixty-seven feet is the height to which the engine can force water. The longest distance over which the water is pumped is something over three miles.

There is a soft limestone found all over the plantation that promises to be of great value in the future. This rock contains 4 39 per cent. of matter inscipals in muricia and 1 64 per insoluble in muriatic acid, 1.64 per cent. iron and aluminium, and 84.10 per cent. carbonate of lime. The last substance is very important as a fer-tilizer, and has already been used to great advantage.

While in the fields the attention of the party was called to the appearance of a little smoke issuing from the stack. The thorough consumption of the thrash was the cause.

Over 10,000 sisal plants have been set out on the bad lands where sugar cane will not grow. This has been done as an experiment, but it promises to be a successful one, for the plants are thriving and have already reached considerable size.

At a late hour in the afternoon the party returned to the city. The news-paper men were loud in their praises of the hospitality received at the hands of Mrs. Lowrie, and Messrs. Tenney. Lowrie, O'Nell and Pohlmann.

CARROLL SHOOTING SCRAPE.

Too Much Gin Was the Cause of the Trouble.

John Carroll, formerly a member of J. M. Vivas' mounted squad of night patrolmen, is now behind prison bars charged with a serious offense. For two nights past Carroll has not appeared for duty, and according to reports, had been partaking too often of the cup that intoxicates. Night before last and yesterday Carroll and several others had been making merry at a bouse off Beretania street opposite his own. During the festivities here and elsewhere on this I-land dur-Carroll got into a rage about some trivial matter, ran to his home and got a revolver and returned. Arriving there he fired three shots at one of the party, one of which took effect in the side of the victim, inflicting a rather mainful hard. flicting a rather painful but not necessarily fatal wound. Awawa, a native guard at the powder magazine near the cemetery, heard the firing and went to the scene. When he arrived Carroll and the man he had shot were seen in the yard. Carroll admitted to Awawa that he had done the shooting. A short folks under its influence, and it is time thereafter Carroll attempted thought that a similar institution for thine-roller mill the work is time thereafter Carron attempted the many little Portuguese and Hamiltonian to mount a horse and escape, but waisen children, as well as those of other nationalities, will lend its great ing so, which was not accomplished, however, without a stubborn resistance on the part of Carroll. Awawa was struck several times by Car-roll, but finally succeeded in getting possession of the pistol, and held the would-be murderer until Captain Scott arrived and took him in charge. The injured man was taken to the hospital, where his wound was attended to by Dr. Wood. Several witnesses to the shooting have been detained. The shooting is said to be a coldblooded and unjustified attempt at murder.

HILO (Hawaii), Feb. 2.—Yesterday another casualty was added to the long list of catastrophes and tragedles already recorded for the new year.

As yet nothing very definite has been heard, but Sheriff Williams will probably bring more particulars when he returns from Kau, whither he went to investigate the latest murder case reported. Today word was received that a horrible crime had been committed at Pahala the night before. Sheriff Williams left today for the scene of the murder, and expects to reach Pahala about midnight. The information is, that a Malay beat a Japanese to death with brass knuckles. Sheriff Williams went armed with a kodak, which ha will use in photographing. which he will use in photographing

Note.—In reference to the above, Marshal Hitchcock received word from Sherlff Williams at Hilo, by the Kinau, that a Japanese had been mur-Kinau, that a Japanese nad oeen mur-dered at Pahala on the night of Feb-ruary 1st by a Malay. Death was in-flicted by pounding the Japanese on the head with brass knuckles, which were found in one of the pockets of the Malay when arrested. An inquest would be held as soon as possible, and further particulars of the tragedy sent Prints, Ginghams. Octions, Sheetings, by next trip of steamer Hall.—[LOCAL EDITOR]

Once more the Volcano road jail has been moved. This time the camp is on the old "ramie place," about a is on the old "ramie place," about a quarter of a mile below the nine mile post on the Volcano road. It has required about two weeks' time to rebuild the quarters and get things in shape for the new work. The prisoners on the ers have ceased their labors on the Volcano road, and since the first of the month have been working on the Puna road. Jailer Perry has bunks for fifty prisoners, but at no time is he allowed more than forty five, all in excess of that number being sent to Onomea jail. At present he has about an equal number of Japanese, Chinese and Hawaitan and Hawaiians, who are doing good work on the roads.

TO COMMENCE WORK AT ONCE.

The Centract for Building Y M C A. Gymnasium Awarded.

At the monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A, held last night, the bids for constructing the addition to the building were opened They were as follows Lucas Brothers, $14,099, William Wagner, $16,400, Arthur Harrison, $16,433, Dall & Co , $16,568.

The contract was awarded to Lucas Brothers, who will be ordered to commence work as soon as possible.

Treasurer Jones read the report for January The receipts were $566.76, expenditures, $550.49.

The following report was read by Secretary Corbett

Commencing with the New Year the usual open house and evening en-tertainment was held for the young men of the city. Through the aid of the ladies of the W. C. T. U. and Y's, a dinner was served to the young men, at which about 200 partook. We are glad to be able to report that a larger number of sailors participated this year than formerly. The evening con-cert was a decided success, the audience room being filled to its utmost capacity. The religious work has been smaller during the past month than any former one for a long time, this on account of the revolution. Until martial law is off the meetings are likely to be smaller. The work at the jail has been prohibited for the present by orders of the Marshal.

The plans for the addition to our work in shape of class rooms and gymnasium nave been completed by our friends, Messrs. Ripley and Reynolds, and we trust to be able to commence the work at an early date. The quarterly issue of the Review has been retarded through waiting for the gymnasium scheme to materialize and also through the tardiness of the printing office. It is now out, however. The temperance committee have been unable to meet, we must all have noticed the beneficial effect the martial law has had on the line of temperance. In view that the Legislature will soon convene it would seem a wise time to try and see what can be done in the temperance issue. The finances of the association are in a healthy condition, and a likelihood of the fiscal year being closed free of debt as far as current expenses are concerned. It is computed that the sum of about $3,000 will be needed to complete the gympasium fund. ## SPECIAL MEETING OF COUNCILS

Marshal to Have Power to Carry Out Military Sentences.

Bill Causes Considerable Discussion Passed Its Second Reading Another Session to be Held This Morning.

A special meeting of the Executive and Advisory Councils was held in the Foreign Office yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock

Chairman Allen occupied the chair, there being present with him President Dole, Ministers Hatch, Smith and King, and Councillors Kennedy, Ena, Hosmer, Bolte, Wood, Morgan, Castle, D. B. Smith, Tenney, Nott and Emme-

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Attorney-General Smith introduced an "Act providing for the carrying out by the Marshal or his deputy of sentences of Military Commission and courts-martial.

Minister Smith explained the objects of the bill, which, upon advice of Executive Council, had thought best to recommend the Act in order that there might be no mistake as to the powers of the Marshal.

Under the suspension of the rules the bill was read a second

The Attorney-General thought the Act was an important one and it was desired to have it become law at once.

Councillor Kennedy was of the opinion that it would look like railroading matters to pass the bill at this meeting, and suggested it lay over until today.

President Dole stated the bill was only to make sure of the powers of the Marshal, and wished the Act could be put through at once.

The Attorney-General thought it might be as well to lay the matter over until this morning. Councillor Emmeluth wished to know if it was understood that the Marshal was to carry out all the sentences of the court-martial. President Dole and Minister Hatch made further explanations in regard to the bills.

Mr. Emmeluth thought it would be ridiculous to have sentences of capital punishment found by the court-martial carried out by civil officers of the law.

In order to allow members to have further consideration of the bill, upon motion of Attorney-General Smith, the Councils adjourned at 4:30 until 9 o'clock this morn-
